

Redesign of our homepage

After the relaunch of the website, the pages are more modern and dynamic. By slider technology, the navigation menu is also suitable for smartphones. The pages are created in German and English, as well as all downloads are available bilingually.

A highlight of the newly-created pages is the core configurator. Now you can online calculate the cores for your specific choke and get a first impression which dimensions are to be expected. It is then possible to generate directly a core request.
